

Cocos (Keeling) Islands Airfield Upgrade Project

CKI is an Australian external territory located in the Indian Ocean approximately 3,000km north-west of Perth (Western Australia). It comprises two coral atolls made up of 27 smaller islands.

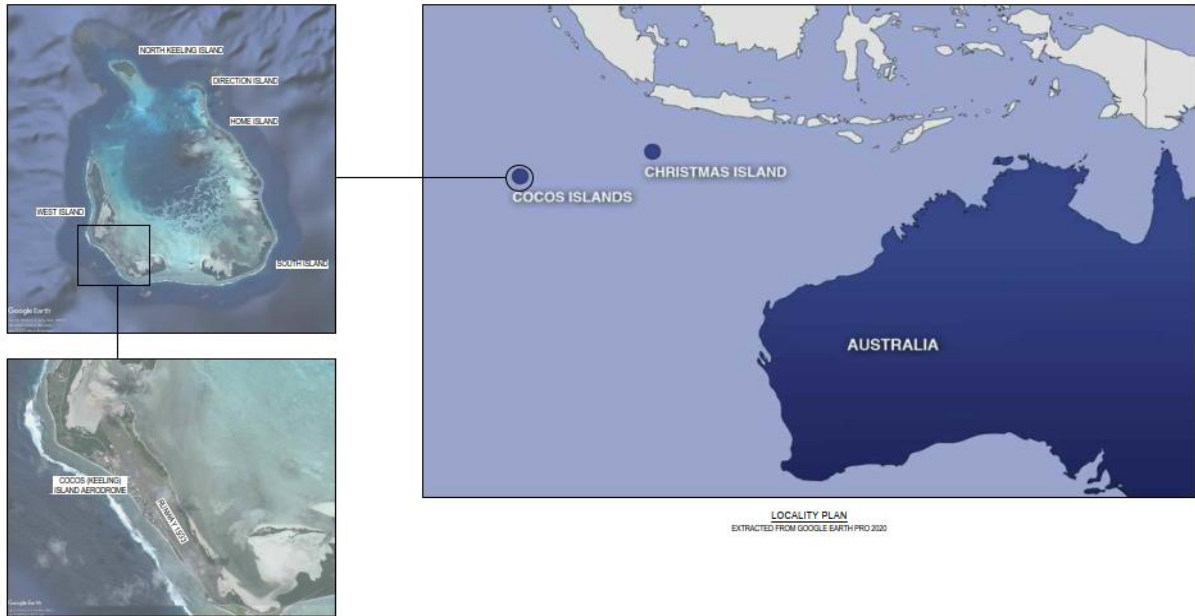

Figure 1: Location of the Cocos (Keeling) Islands

Existing runway

The Cocos (Keeling) Islands Runway Upgrade Project aims to upgrade the airfield at Cocos (Keeling) Islands (CKI) to support Defence’s capability requirements.

Figure 2: Existing runway

Project elements

The proposed works at Cocos (Keeling) Islands will be delivered across the following work and supporting elements on West Island as follows:

- Work Element 1 – Existing Runway
- Work Element 2 – Four Existing Taxiways
- Work Element 3 – Existing Apron

- Work Element 4 – Lighting
- Work Element 5 – Drainage and Flooding
- Work Element 6 – Runway Extension
- Work Element 7 – Defence Legacy Waste Removal
- Supporting Element 1 – Temporary Construction Facilities
- Supporting Element 2 – General Support
- Supporting Element 3 – Logistics

Figure 3: Work element location on West Island